ALADIN THE GENIE IN THE KITCHEN

ALADIN COOKING /CONSERVATION WASHING

You don't see it, but it's there: this is the slogan of the Aladin program where features of cooking, conservation and washing are consciously integrated with hidden solutions. The central island, featuring surfaces in thick molten glass, is equipped with an induction stovetop and integrated sink with telescopic faucet. Carved decoration on the front panel and on the varnished metal range hood adds additional embellishment. The equipped wall with folding doors in Douglas wood, on the one side hides the oven, coffee machine, refrigerator, wine storage and any other kitchen appliance while on the other, a convenient, neat and discreet washing area.

ALADIN THE DECORATED CUPBOARD

The Aladin cupboard, a perfect balance between modernity and tradition, is characterized by unlimited potential compositions in terms of aesthetics and features thanks to the alternation between closed spaces, sliding doors and shelving. The naturalness of the wood, lacquer and carved decoration, brought together in such an inedited way, makes for a timeless collection.

SPACE HOME OFFICE AREA

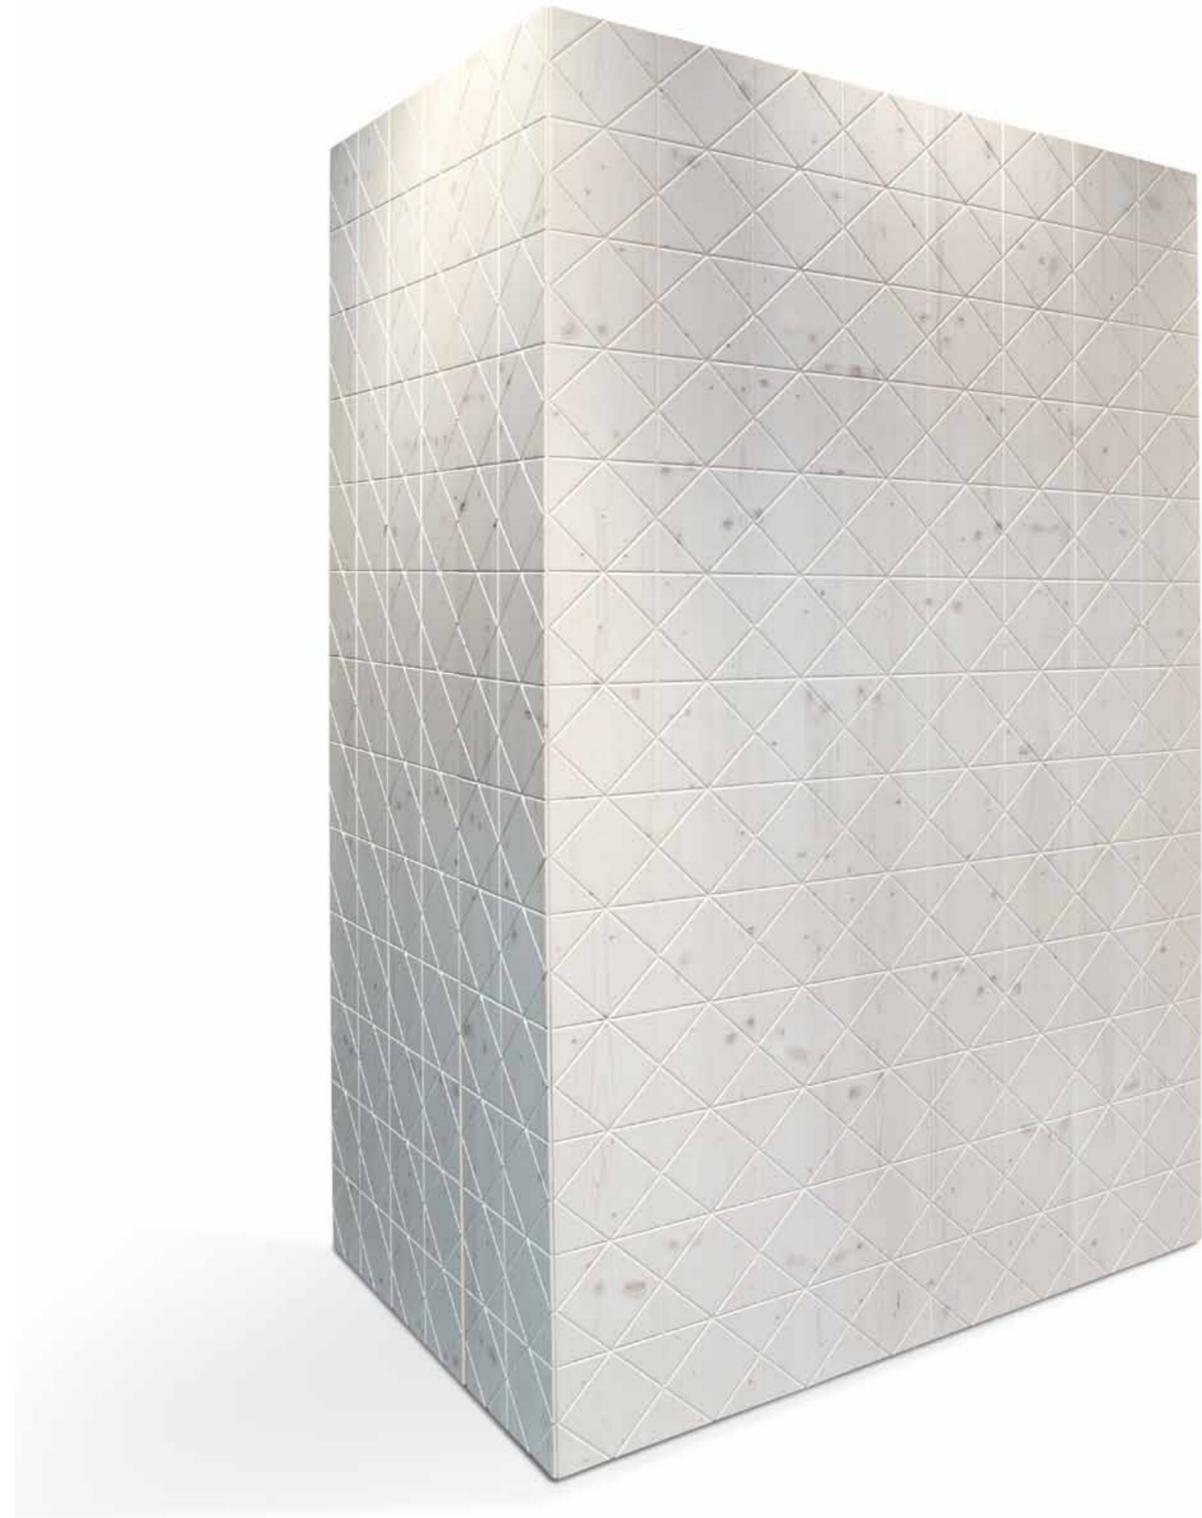

Space is a kitchen program created from the objective of being the only protagonist in its environment: its island composition, in fact, contains all of the functions of daily life. On one side, preparation with a stovetop and telescopic range hood, oven, sink, dishwasher, refrigerator and pantry; on the other side, the dining area with a square table in Paldao wood with a particular design in the grain; in yet another part, there's the living room wall with suspended furniture, a bookshelf and bioethanol fireplace in black iron. To finish everything off, there's the study with a workspace, a side table and a bookshelf.

URBAN EVERY- THING IS OK

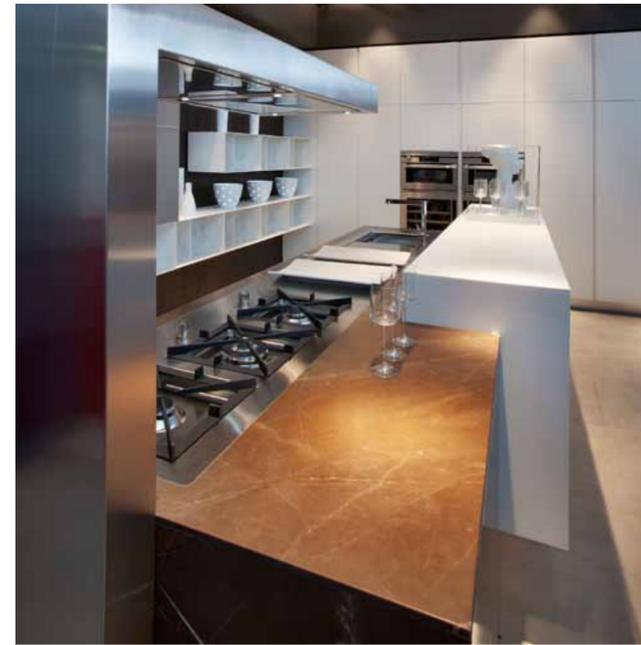

Visual and textured appeal characterized the Urban kitchen program that combines big volumes with large surfaces. The multifunctional island with its worktop, the integrated bench with dining table and full height double sided bookcase hold the stage. There is a perfect match between the grained black walnut and the pewter finish steel used for the worktop and the bookcase.

COOKING AUTHENTIC DESIGN

COOKING UNIQUE FEATURES

COOKING is a program that allows to live in a natural dimension, close to inner emotions satisfying the desire of simplicity and goodness. The project reflects the contemporary design mood and, at the same time, reflects a timeless beauty. Kitchen units are characterized by a central block, such as a leading solid element, by the absence of handles and by the lightness of switched full and empty boxes. The design makes interesting use of innovative and high quality finishes ranging from embossed "thermo-baked" acacia wood to the Amani marble of the central block. The extractor hood, instead, is in stainless steel with an inverted "L" shape.

To Remember model reflects simplicity and character. On the one side, shapes are inspired by traditions and on the other they are in harmony with an elegant and a prestigious style that characterized the entire living space. The doors are white matt veneer with panelling in eco-friendly crocodile-like leather and handles in shiny steel. The tops are finished with white Carrara marble and the sink is a marble stone one-piece and the hood is finished with multi-faceted crystal that is self-illuminating.

TO REMEMBER CLASSIC IN THE KITCHEN

For over 50 years, Maiullari S.r.l. has designed, produced and commercialized made-to-measure kitchens with the same passion with which founder, current legal representative and sole administrator, Angelo Maiullari gave life to this small and ambitious artisanal laboratory. It was during the early 1960s that this company, which would become a cornerstone of kitchen design in Southern Italy, was born in Altamura in the heart of Murgia plateau, in Puglia.

The company holds a history rich with artisanal tradition, the development of expertise and constant quality research, keeping it evolving throughout the years thanks to new design concepts that integrated kitchen space with living space. A revolution of surfaces and volumes, design solutions that mutually enrich one another eliminating boundaries and closures, making the domestic habitat a more social space.

The continuous evolution of design, the study of new technologies and the possibility to personalize, in addition to the numerous business challenges, but above all, the constant perseverance of these intentions has permitted a progressive economic and industrial growth that today gives the Maiullari brand the credibility and recognized trust of its clients and of the market.

In 2006, management decided to create a new industrial factory that spans over 6,000 square meters just a few kilometers from Altamura city, an architectural structure that reflects the stylistic rigor and attention to detail that has distinguished Maiullari kitchens for the past half century.

Over 1,000 square meters of the factory are for the showroom, planned out by designer and creator, Giovanni Pesce, in collaboration with the internal technical studio and featuring all of the collections in the catalog. The space is characterized by a broad exhibition route in which the visitor has the possibility to admire an endless variety of models and design solutions, to appreciate the choice of colors and materials and to directly ascertain product quality in terms of design and consistency. The other 5,000 square meters, on the other hand, are reserved for the manufacturing structure with the objective of satisfying the ever increasing demand and to manage the warehouse and logistics in the most efficient ways.

Still today, the company closely guards the antique art of craftsmanship. The entire family works incessantly side by side with Angelo Maiullari, each member in a specific field, a family devoted to this long road: because people are the most valuable assets of a company. An underlying choice that values the will to stick to tradition over time, but simultaneously never look away from technological innovation and avant-garde design.
