valerie^{objects}

valerie^{objects}

valerie_objects is an Antwerp-based design label initiated by Axel Van Den Bossche and art director Veerle Wenes, combining their professional and personal tastes for all things good and beautiful.

By allowing designers, architects and artists to translate their signature style into tangible objects, valerie_objects has become a unique collection of everyday items with out-of-the-box aesthetics. These are objects people truly get entangled with.

Chris Kabel was born in Bloemendaal, the Netherlands, in 1975. He graduated in 2001 from the Design Academy Eindhoven. In 2002 he moved to Rotterdam where he started his design practice. He works with design labels, architects, cultural institutions and design galleries. His designs are in the collections of MoMa New York and Stedelijk Museum Amsterdam.

In 2011, Rotterdam-based designer Chris Kabel developed the hidden vases project for the Spanish The Plant Journal (now The Plant). This project started as a research on how to make a vase disappear, based on the way a chicken waterer works. "The flowers are placed around the water container, so it seems like they are growing directly from the plate,"

Chris Kabel explains. "I wanted it to appear invisible, but it became an autonomous object that maintains itself." A small collection of one-off vases was produced, based on the initial research. Two different models are available at valerie_objects. Metal, glass and ceramics form the framework to arrange flowers in.

The name D.D.Trans is a pseudonym taken from a now defunct transport company. As the name says, the artist's work is about transformation: day-to-day, often domestic objects are taken out of context and after a small alteration turned into works of art. The result is at times formal, then poetic or funny. —

D.D. Trans

D.D.Trans transforms everyday, household objects that are taken out of their context and enhances them with the inspiration he draws from strolling through do-it-yourself shops. For valerie_objects, the artist has designed a collection of small mirrors, based on the covers of paint pots. So nothing is what it seems when it comes to D.D.Trans.

muller van severen

For Muller Van Severen all objects are sculptures and should be treated as such. That is why they design even the smallest of objects, giving back an aesthetic meaning to all tools that we use in the living space.

“We don't want to make these tools disappear whenever they're not needed. For us it's very important that the objects we use also create a beautiful image when they're not being used” say Fien & Hannes.

Since 2011, Muller Van Severen, the design practice of Fien Muller and Hannes Van Severen, has been on an inspired quest for sculpturally interesting furniture objects – items that are spontaneous and produced with apparent effortlessness. The universe they create together dovetails quite naturally with their work as separate artists. Muller Van Severen is the first artist duo that signed with valerie_objects.

Linde Freya Tangelder (1987) is a young conceptual designer based in Brussels who founded her design studio Destroyers / Builders in 2015. As the name suggests, Linde Freya deconstructs design to rebuild her own visual language. By zooming in on basic architectural shapes and materials, and translating them into minimalist designs, she gives the overlooked objects the attention they deserve. 'Contrasting high-end and low-end shapes, materials and textures is the leitmotiv through my work', Linde Freya says. Her designs lie on the border between art and functionality and have been shown at the Design Museum Ghent, at the Collectible fair in Brussels and during the Milan Design Week at the exhibition of the Belgian up-and-coming Brut Collective.

A minimalist play of colour, shape and texture, that's the result of our collaboration with the young conceptual designer Linde Freya Tangelder a.k.a. Destroyers / Builders. Linde Freya deconstructed the small and seemingly banal elements of architecture and translated them into simple and pure design objects that spark the interior. She morphed the shape of a simple curved tube into six beautiful table and wall objects such as a small shelf, a bookend and a little mirror. The objects are made of brick, porcelain and steel: a mixture of high-end and low-end materials with natural textures. 'I zoom in on the elements that most architects try to keep out of sight', Linde Freya says. While questioning the border between art and functionality, we believe that these objects have the power to become the new little altars of the contemporary home.
